Partney verdicts overturned State's attorney to appeal judge's ruling

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The county state's attorney says he'll appeal this week's ruling that overturned perjury verdicts and ordered a new trial for Alderman Dan Partney and his brothers, Don and Dave.

Associate Judge Lola Maddox, in a ruling dated Monday, overruled a jury's guilty verdict because she said the jury could have been confused by technical flaws in the charges.

The brothers were charged with perjury under the Illinois Election Code for filing affidavits allegedly known to be false in order to allow Don and Dave Partney to vote from their business address during the April 1989 election. Don and Dave Partney signed affidavits saying 2500 Missouri Avenue, the address of Granite Sheet Metal Inc., was their legal residence. Dan Partney signed a supporting affidavit for each of his brothers.

Maddox questioned whether the jury was properly instructed concerning the law under which the Partneys were tried and, in ordering a new trial, argued the jury could have been confused because its instructions contained language from the Illinois Criminal Code instead of the Election Code.

Maddox also faulted the state charges that credited Dan Partney with making the statement that Dave and Don Partney "resided at 2500 Missouri Ave." The words in quotes are not found on the election affidavits Dan Partney signed.

Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine said Wednesday that he and Assistant State's Attorney Rich Rybak would appeal the ruling today or tomorrow to the Fifth District Appellate Court in Mount Vernon.

Leon Scroggins, the Partneys' attorney, said he was unsure whether Haine actually has a legal option to appeal the ruling. Scroggins said he was pleased with the order and that, in a new trial, the brothers will be found not guilty.

Haine said he was "astounded" and "angry" at Maddox's order.

"I can find no justification for setting aside a jury verdict," Haine said, adding that during his 16 years of practice before the Madison County Bar he could not remember a criminal judge setting aside a jury's verdict.

"Nor can anyone else," Haine said.

As for the confusion over the jury's instructions, Haine said the instructions were approved by both prosecution and defense.

"Now the judge is saying, 'Oh, no, they could have confused somebody,'" he said.

Scroggins said the instructions are prepared by the state and "they must bear responsibility for them."

Rybak, who prosecuted the case, called Maddox's reasoning "hypertechnical" and "a

Granite OKs trash contract

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Admitting its back is against the wall, the City Council agreed Tuesday to a three-year, $3.2-million trash-hauling contract with Laidlaw Waste Management Systems Inc.

Facing a large number of new state-mandated recycling and waste management regulations, beginning with a ban on yard waste in landfills July 1, no company was willing to offer the city a shorter contract.

The contract does not include hauling yard waste, so city residents will be responsible for individually contracting with Laidlaw or another trash hauler for disposal of grass clippings, leaves and similar materials.

In asking for approval of the contract, 6th Ward Alderman Judy Whitaker, chairman of the Sanitation Committee, told the aldermen a comprehensive long-range waste management and recycling plan being prepared by the committee and Public Works Director Brett Hanke is in its final stages and should be available for a "sneak preview" in two weeks.

The idea of a city-operated composting site, where yard clippings could be taken, is being studied as part of the long-range plan.

The city had originally considered using a Laidlaw plan using stickers costing $1.25 for each 30 gallons of yard waste. Individual residents may still choose that plan or any of a number of others being offered by different contractors. Another option might be to simply leave clippings on the yard.

First Ward Alderman Casmer Skubish, a member and former chairman of the Sanitation Committee, objected to a multi-year contract and said the city should get a shorter agreement and develop a plan of its own to save money.

Whitaker noted Skubish followed thinking as chairman of the committee and now the short-term agreement is about to expire and the city still doesn't have a plan. She said she, Hanke and the committee did a "pretty darn good job" of getting the city a contract at all.

Skubish referred to Whitaker as "your highness" and went into a several-minute speech about a "generation gap" and said "you think you don't have to listen to me because I'm just old and senile."

Loan gets restaurant cooking

By John Milazzo
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — The Madison County Board Wednesday approved a low-interest loan that will assist former Madison restaurant owner David Thebeau in re-establishing the restaurant that was destroyed in a fire one year ago.

The board approved a five-year, $100,000, 3 percent loan for re-establishing Ralph and Charles Restaurant in Pontoon Beach. The establishment had been located in the 1800 block of Fourth Street in Madison.

Rudy Papa, D-Bethalto, a member of the County Board's Grants Committee, said the community services block grant economic development loan will assist Thebeau in launching a new $700,000 steak house in the nearly vacant Oakmont Plaza Shopping Center in the 4000 block of Pontoon Road.

Papa said the planned restaurant is expected to provide 35

Principal chosen in Madison

By Sam Hananel
Staff writer

MADISON — The Madison School Board has chosen Betty J. Gabryshak of Troy as the new principal of Madison Middle School.

Gabryshak, who will assume her new position with District 12 Aug. 13, is currently program administrator for the Navy Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps program at Cleveland Junior High School in St. Louis.

The board granted final interviews to three candidates last Friday and announced their selection that afternoon.

Gabryshak replaces former Principal Thesie Franks, who was reassigned to the In School Suspension Center at Madison High School. Franks was principal for two years.

Gabryshak said she has not yet finalized her goals as principal. "I would imagine that achievement would be a priority."

Last year, Gabryshak completed her master's degree in education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. She also holds a masters in business administration from Roosevelt University in Chicago.

Prior to working at Cleveland Junior High School, Gabryshak was management analyst for the city of Kenosha, Wis., from 1981-82. From 1977 to 1980 she served as an officer in the Navy.

Before 1977, Gabryshak was an assistant professor of naval science at Marquette University in Indiana.

"I'm a very energetic person who likes to get things done," Gabryshak said. She feels her military background will be an asset in maintaining order and discipline in the school.

Gabryshak said she will maintain residence in Troy, at least during the first year of her principalship.

Landfill tipping fee hike dumped

By John Milazzo
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Members of the Madison County Environmental Control Committee watched in dismay Wednesday as the full county board defeated a committee recommendation that would have doubled the county's landfill tipping fee.

The vote proves the way for the Village of Roxana to impose the fee and reap the benefits, stunned committee members said later.

The board, on a 17-10 vote, rejected the committee recommendation that would have boosted the tipping fee from 22.5 cents to 45 cents per cubic yard beginning in August.

The tipping fee is imposed on all trash entering landfills.

The vote was taken after several board members criticized the measure as a "hidden" or "backdoor" tax.

In a related matter, the county board approved its state-mandated long-range solid waste management plan Wednesday.

The plan is required for counties of 100,000 and more population under state law that mandates a 25 percent reduction in solid waste volume by 1996.

To achieve that, Madison County's plan contains a combination of reduction at the source, incineration, recycling and landfills.

The tipping fee, first established by the county under provisions of state law in July 1987, has generated about $300,000 to date, committee chairman Dick Worthen, D-Alton, estimated.

Those funds have been used for a variety of waste management and environmental quality programs, including $160,000 allocated

'This goes down as one of the dumbest things I've ever seen in this board room.'

— Chairman Dick Worthen

ed for the current fiscal year in a grant program to assist county municipalities and townships in meeting tougher state solid waste guidelines.

Communities, including Collinsville and Edwardsville, this year received $11,000 each in county grants to help start yard waste and recycling programs.

The board Wednesday approved a special, one-time $17,000 grant to Edwardsville from the tipping fee money for a forklift to contend with a rising tide of waste paper in its recycling program.

In proposing the doubling of the tipping fee, Worthen said the money would be used to beef up the county's grant program to help pay for local composting and recycling programs.

"Also, with this county facing a problem with the importation of trash from Missouri, it helps to know that Missouri will be paying to help us contend with these problems," Worthen said.

"This goes down as one of the dumbest things I've ever seen in this board room," Worthen said of the failed effort to double the tipping fee.

Asked what the existing fees would yield in the short run, Worthen said it is difficult to estimate because the flow of trash into the Laidlaw-owned landfill near Edwardsville — the landfill annexed by Roxana — is nearing capacity and the trash flow into the facility has slowed to a trickle.

On Monday night, Roxana approved a 95-acre expansion of the landfill, Worthen noted. Assuming state approval for the village's plan, there will be a huge jump in volume going into the landfill.

But Homer Henke, R-Moro, Jack Brand, D-Alhambra, and several other board members said they didn't see the need for increasing the tipping fee.

"To me, it's just another tax for county residents; I don't think it's needed," Henke said.

"I can't see the point of it," Fred Dalton, D-Collinsville, said.

Lewis Mallott, an assistant state's attorney who handles solid waste matters for the county, said that under state law, 45 cents per cubic yard is the maximum allowable tipping fee.

Flood funds pour through House, now face Senate

WASHINGTON — Two major federal projects along the Mississippi River near Granite City received funding approval Tuesday.

U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Belleveille, said the House approved the fiscal year 1991 Energy and Water Appropriations Bill, which includes funding for Metro East flood control, as well as for the Met Price Locks and Dam near Alton.

With House approval, the appropriations legislation must now go to the Senate for consideration.

Included in H.R. 5019 is a total of $104 million for the Price Locks and Dam, and $4.5 million for flood control in the Metro East. Both projects are administered by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Costello stressed that federal funds for Metro East flood control are essential to upgrade flood gates and sewage pumps along the Mississippi. Last year, residents in the Metro East Sanitary District approved a referendum calling for improvements to the flood control system.

The flood funds are the federal share for rehabilitation of the entire flood control system along the river in both western Madison and St. Clair counties.

"There is an urgent need to upgrade the flood control system along the river, to protect homes and businesses in those areas," Costello said. "Without adequate flood control, we are gambling with the future of the region."

"The Price Locks and Dam facility plays an essential role in making our region accessible to markets that need our agricultural goods."

Two arrested in gun incident

Kevin C. Horton, 28, of Washington Park was one of two men arrested June 17 in incident involving a gun.

Police responding to a report of a man with a gun in the 2200 block of Lee Avenue stopped a car in the 2200 block of Monroe Street. The car was driven by Walter A. Dunn, 27, of Cahokia. Police said Horton, a passenger in the car, was observed drinking from a 40-ounce bottle of beer. Three rounds of .38 caliber ammunition were found in the glove box. A .38 caliber snub-nose revolver was found in the street at E. 23rd Street and Monroe.

Earlier, police allege, Walter Dunn got in a fight with a neighbor of his brother, Richard Dunn, of Kirkpatrick Homes. He and Horton left and came back two hours later, at about 11 p.m. Horton allegedly held a gun to Richard Dunn's head and threatened him.

Horton was charged with aggravated assault, unlawful use of a weapon, carrying a firearm owner's identification card and illegal transportation of alcohol. He was held pending $250 bail.

Ex-officer sues over firing

By David Migoya
Staff writer

BELLEVEILLE — A former Brooklyn police officer who filed a lawsuit Wednesday against the village for wrongfully firing him last year was fired because of police brutality, Mayor James Davis said.

In the suit, Robert Boone alleges Davis fired him in August without cause or any formal hearing on charges.

But Davis on Wednesday said Boone was fired after a hearing before the Village Board showed he had handcuffed a prisoner to a telephone pole, beat him, then took his money.

According to Davis, no criminal charges or civil complaints were filed against Boone in the incident. Davis said he couldn't recall the exact date of the alleged incident or the date of the board hearing.

Davis said the incident occurred in view of a village trustee.

"I would like to think that if you do that (beat a prisoner), if it's not criminal I don't know what would be," Davis said.

Neither Boone nor his attorney, Michael Katz of Collinsville, could be reached for comment Wednesday.

Cut with meat cleaver

Two men were charged with aggravated battery in the slashing of another man with a meat cleaver June 20, and the victim was jailed when police found a warrant on him.

Alcohol, drugs and the trauma relationship

By JoAnne Roberson, R.N.

There is a well-established relationship between drug abuse (including alcohol) and trauma.

Approximately 40 percent of fatal traffic accidents are alcohol-related. The incidence of alcohol use has been reported to range from 65 to 95 percent in trauma patients admitted to hospitals nationwide.

Alcohol not only contributes to injury-producing events as motor vehicle accidents, but can also increase the severity of injury. An example would be a person who does not escape from a burning building due to alcohol impairment.

Alcohol is a major factor in accidents such as motor vehicle accidents, home accidents and industrial and recreational accidents. It is also a major factor in crimes such as homicide, suicide and family abuse. Studies have shown that for 16-30 year olds, alcohol-related visits to emergency rooms are twice as common as for patients who are older than 30 years.

Drivers aged 16 to 21 years old have the highest rate of alcohol-involved fatal crashes. Motor vehicle accidents are responsible for almost 90,000 fatalities each year. Economic losses associated with drinking and driving are estimated at $25 billion per year.

During the past four or five years, there has been an alarming increase in the number of injuries and deaths involving alcohol-associated boating and all-terrain vehicle accidents. Again, the people most often involved are young adults.

In Illinois, a blood alcohol content (BAC) of .10 percent is the legal definition of being under the influence of alcohol for prosecution of driving under the influence of alcohol charges.

Yet, deterioration of driving skills begins at .05 percent BAC, or lower.

A BAC of .10 percent is equivalent to a 150 lb. person drinking four and a half beers or mixed drinks in a two-hour period.

In a comparison study of intoxicated versus non-intoxicated injured patients, intoxicated patients were found to have a higher incidence of head injury, total body injury and mortality.

Several factors contribute to increased morbidity (unhealthiness) and mortality (death) in this population:

1) Alcohol-impaired drivers are less likely to wear seat belts, rendering them more prone to both head and extracranial injuries.

Venice

Charged with resisting Darrell Rivers, 31, of Venice, was arrested June 15 and charged with unlawful use of a weapon and resisting arrest.

Police said Rivers had taken the three children of a woman acquaintance because she owed him money. An officer took the children back to the woman and told Rivers to stay away. But he came back and shoved the officer during his arrest. The officer said he found a knife on Rivers. Rivers was released on $204 bail.

Church burglarized

Somebody broke out a basement window of the Living Church of God, 225 Broadway, during the night of June 11-12. Taken were three cases of soda.

ries:

2) Acute and chronic alcoholism increases susceptibility to aspiration, seizures and metabolic complications; and

3) Alcohol makes neurological injury and decreases the chance of accurate diagnosis and prompt initiation of treatment.

Other drugs besides alcohol have been associated with trauma of various sorts. Admission tology screens on trauma patients have revealed the following drugs to be most commonly involved: marijuana (35 percent), cocaine (11 percent), opiates (six percent), PCP (five percent), and barbiturates (two percent).

The above statistics support drug-associated trauma is a major problem for society, not only as an economic burden, but more importantly, as a killer of one of our nation's most valued assets — our young.

JoAnne Roberson is the acute care supervisor for the Edgewood Program at Edwardsville.

Briefly

Sanford Brown to host benefit

A Summer Celebration will be held at the Sanford Brown Business College on the Granite City campus on Saturday, June 30, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The events will include live entertainment, refreshments, craft fair, Jump-Rope-for-Heart, and health information booths. All of the proceeds from the "Summer Celebration" will help support research and educational programs for the American Heart Association.

For more information contact Sanford Brown Business College at 1-800-456-7222.

Summer arts series continues

The second program in the Madison County Arts Council Summer Artists Series at the Granite City District Library will be "Entertainment Unlimited."

David Smith and Kevin Frakes will perform Tuesday, July 3, at 11 a.m. in the children's room of the main library, 2001 Delmar. They will repeat their performance at 1 p.m. at the branch library, 2145 Johnson Road.

The program will include music performed on an electronic keyboard and entertaining sing-along activities.

Tickets for this performance, may be picked up at both libraries starting Wednesday, June 27.

Asthmatic-child camp slated

Superkids, a camp for asthmatic children between the ages of eight and 13, will be held from July 15 to 22 in Metamora, Ill.

The American Lung Association is seeking area children with asthma to attend the camp. Superkids, near Peoria, offers severely asthmatic children the opportunity to enjoy outdoor activities they might otherwise be denied, while providing medical support 24 hours a day.

"It's designed to help the kids understand their illness," said Karen Lewis, regional director of the American Lung Association of Illinois.

Spaces are still available for campers from this area. The phone number of camp information is 692-0585.

Church Women blood drive

Church Women United will sponsor a Red Cross blood drive Friday, June 29, at the Holy Family Catholic School, formerly St. Margaret Mary School, located at 1900 St. Clair Ave. in Granite City.

The drive will be held in the school cafeteria from 2 p.m. until 7 p.m. During the summer, the regional blood supply traditionally is lower than at any other time of the year. With an increase in travel comes more accidents and an increase in blood usage, said spokesmen for Church Women United and the Red Cross.

President Lazerson honored

Earl Lazerson, president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, was honored recently by the Illinois Committee on Black Concerns in Higher Education for his "outstanding leadership in the demonstration of ethnic and cultural diversity in higher education."

The ICBCHC, which honored Lazerson during its annual conference at the University of Chicago, is dedicated to consolidating and coordinating efforts toward reversing adverse trends for blacks in higher education.

Car wash here

A car wash sponsored by the Tri-Cities Association for the Handicapped will be held Saturday, June 23, at Bellemore Shell Station on Nameoki Road.

Proceeds will be used for the Special Olympics program bowling, swimming, field and track, basketball. Time will be 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Matthew 9:37 ... "The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few."

It is a true saying that no matter what shape you are in there is always someone else who has it worse. Now rather than being comforted by this knowledge, we should be moved with compassion.

Here is an opportunity for you to become involved in God's work. You are doing better, you have it a little easier, you have something that you can give Jesus said, "Thy the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest."

"As you pray to the Lord, be sure to listen also. He may be speaking to you. You may be the answer to the very prayer you are praying. He may be sending you."

The harvest waits. Will you go?

Today.

Property tax collection season here

By Sam Hananel
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Madison County Treasurer Michael Henkhaus has mailed out property tax bills, notifying owners they have until July 9 to make the first payment and until Sept. 10 to pay the second and final installment.

But most of his instructions apply to only 22 of the 24 townships.

Granite City and Venice Township (Venice-Madison area) taxpayers, meanwhile, are paying directly at the township level. State law permits townships to serve as tax collectors through Aug. 31 of each year.

Madison County residents outside the two townships can send their checks directly to the treasurer's office in Edwardsville. The address is 400 St. Louis St., about one block west of the County Courthouse.

Granite City Township residents can pay tax bills by mail or in person to City Treasurer Gail Valle at the City Hall, 2000 Edison Ave. Payments can also be made to her at Quad City area Manna, Central and Madison bank locations, she said.

Those residing in Venice Township can direct their payments to Casey Krakowiecki, Venice Township collector, at the township office, 422 Madison Ave., Madison. They may also pay at the First National Bank in Madison, one block north of the township office.

Only payments made after Aug. 31 for Granite City and Venice Township real estate can be sent directly to the county treasurer's office in Edwardsville.

If a property owner is paying his or her taxes under protest, however, payment can be made only in Edwardsville. Krakowiecki said that each year hundreds of bills from Granite City and Venice-Madison are sent to Henkhaus instead of the local collector, creating confusion and delays in processing payments.

Krakowiecki also urged residents to examine tax forms carefully for any exemptions they may be entitled to. For a personal residence, Illinois Senate Bill 1790 provides a reduction for that property. Also, property owners over age 65 are entitled to a Homestead exemption, for which they must apply.

Regarding the practice of having a local tax collector, Valle said the benefits to the community outweigh any drawbacks.

"We disburse the money a lot quicker," she said, noting that she has begun to distribute substantial amounts of tax dollars to the appropriate taxing agencies.

Krakowiecki agrees that the system makes life more convenient for residents. "Having the office right here in town makes it easier for us to solve problems at a local level," he said.

He added that distribution of tax dollars is also made easier through local collection.

Henkhaus disagrees, calling it an archaic system that creates duplication of governmental processes.

"If the town board wants to fund this (tax collection) office and spend $10,000 to $12,000, that just wastes money," he said.

Henkhaus said that Granite City and Venice Township resi-

Go for the code, District 12

By telling the student body that proper attire is necessary, the Madison School Board is broadcasting a critically important message: education and appearance are intricately linked.

They may be tackling a controversial project, but the trustees in District 12 are to be commended for launching a study of student dress. Students — rebellious by their nature — won't like being told what to wear. But if they are to be successful later in life, now's the right time to learn to listen. And those that learn to listen usually end up learning.

The board is considering a possible prohibition of certain haircuts and dress through stricter enforcement of dress codes. The issue came to a head, so to speak, when some students began cutting graffiti into their hairline, including some words that administrators found offensive.

The official dress code for the high school states that "students will be cautioned in regard to the wearing of extremely short skirts and shorts, shirts and blouses which expose the abdomen, tank tops, clothing with inscriptions which are explicitly vulgar, hats, hair rollers and plastic caps."

That says plenty, but with the hairstyles of the '90s, there are obviously some more points that could be addressed.

To us, proper dress is nothing more than healthy discipline. It's just as important as understanding the Constitution, proper enunciation of words or adding a column of figures. If you're going to make it in the real world, you've got to accept the real world's rules. One of those is dress for success.

City shouldn't live in past

There was a time when aldermen in Granite City had the easiest jobs in the world. Between taxes paid by big industry and federal revenue sharing, the money was coming in so fast it couldn't all be spent. Individual taxes were at rock bottom.

There was so much money in the budget an alderman could give his or her nephew a job and, at the same time, hire another person to do the work. With a huge work force and seemingly unlimited funds the city started providing its residents with a lot of free services it really had no business providing.

Aldermen had the Street Department unclog private sewers, pump out flooded basements, trim trees, haul tree limbs, and loan out lawnmowers, tools and even its grease pit. Aldermen had the Sanitation Department haul away, on demand, everything cleaned out of citizens' basements, attics or garages; take care of unwanted litters of puppies and kittens; and trim the weeds along the back fences.

Aldermen had the Police Department help break into cars and houses after residents accidentally locked in the keys. Aldermen had the Fire Department get everybody's Aunt Ruth to the hospital for an appointment when no one else could take off from work to do it.

Aldermen had any number of other services — from having copies of church picnic fliers made at the City Clerk's Office to having a patio blueprint drawn at the Engineering Department — all cheerfully provided by the city.

Times change — there's a whole lot less industry and no federal revenue sharing — but some aldermen refuse to believe it. These aldermen say it's still possible to provide all these free services while keeping taxes at rock bottom. They say it so much they must believe it. Meeting after meeting they stand up to complain about cuts in city services, but refuse to approve new methods of paying for them. They continue to live in the past.

These aldermen must realize that yesterday's solutions don't work on today's problems. Taxpayers, who live in the real world, have already started looking up the telephone numbers of plumbers, horticulturists, hardware dealers and other professions in the private-service economy.

Taxpayers have wised up. It's time some of our aldermen did the same.

Feeding four on $11 a day

My spaghetti's going to be kind of plain, and my kids will have to endure hominy grits for breakfast, but that's life. I only had $11.

There I was in the grocery store, 23 cents short of being able to buy the chicken that would have made my spaghetti taste so much better.

I also couldn't afford a box of better-tasting hominy grits. I would have to do. My $11 had to go for a day's worth of meals for a family of four, and money only stretches so far you know.

This was a special assignment, and for the first time in a long time it wasn't going for bread and milk for you-know-who. This time it was the county's Cooperative Extension Service that coerced me into a shopping challenge. And, boy, this was a biggie.

The University of Illinois' Extension recently invited 17 participants to meet an $11 Nutrition Challenge at National Food Store in Granite City. The object of the test was to properly feed a family of four, using the same amount of money as that allocated in the state's Food Stamp program.

The $11 limit would have been bad enough, but meeting the nutritional requirements was tough. Getting the right combination of breads, meats, milks and fruits for daily sustenance is no small feat.

Even with advance preparation the decisions weren't easy. And if it weren't for the able assistance of my day's "helper," Ruth Brave of Granite City, I might have quit and gone home. However, Ruth, like the other Extension assistants, not only showed me the right aisle, but provided some free coaching. (Like looking for plain-label products and buying in the bulk food section).

Well it didn't for Ruth, my spaghetti wouldn't even have had tomato sauce. Talk about plain.

My wife and I sat down for a couple of hours a few days before the shopping session to come up with a feasible menu, basing it on a fact file provided by the Extension. The first version contained eggs, cereal and potatoes, but the version I had to settle on the one I could afford — ended up with the grits and spaghetti.

For the record this is the rest of what I bought for my $11: a can of frozen orange juice; a gallon of one-half percent milk; a loaf of bread; a can of tuna; a 20-cent bag of carrots; 16 cents worth of ground beef; a head of lettuce; box of salt; gelatin dessert; and tomato sauce. Total cost was $10.83. The 23-cent onion had to go back.

Actually I won't be forcing my kids to eat grits. National Food Store donated the day's purchases to the Granite City Salvation Army, whose clients will be far more grateful for the food than my kids ever would be.

While we didn't keep the groceries, we did keep some valuable knowledge. First, proper nutrition is more than just a walk through the market. It is a process that requires continual thought. Second, no one can enjoy living on $11 a day. Fewer still can actually do it.

Care for those already here

To the editor:

I am sick of hearing about abortion in the paper pro and con. If all those people who walk the streets with their protests would just channel their efforts to make the children who are here happy and care for them who are here, this world would be a better place.

Let the woman choose for herself.

Also there are so many political issues to bring up in the paper that have importance in the country's way of life. Too much is being centered on abortion. It has gotten to be that a good politician, regardless of what he or she does is being looked at for how he stands on the abortion issue. Is the abortion issue running this country? What about the college people, nursery care, new roads and long-time care for the elderly — how do people note on those issues?

Critical of decision on child

To the editor:

What kind of law do we have that would turn a little child over to (alleged) abusers?

We are backing you up, Tamara Cooper, and I want to thank Debra Reinhardt for her letter in Thursday's paper. Keep those yellow ribbons flying. Place one on your door for Tamara Cooper and her babies. What if that was your child? Pray for Tamara. She needs your help.

Tourney, grads conflicted

To the editor:

While reading the Journal and Press-Record's coverage of the girls' soccer tournament, I noticed that it made mention that three senior girls from Granite City decided to attend graduation ceremonies instead of play soccer.

If Granite City had won the tournament, the state championship games were on the same weekend as graduation ceremonies.

I might also mention that the help these three girls would have given to the team during those tournament games could have been instrumental in deciding which team did go to state.

My question is "Why do the girls' soccer players have to make this decision? Why can't graduation ceremonies be moved up to the weekend before this state tournament? The seniors had not been in school anyway since Thursday, May 23, and graduation could have been that Friday.

It's not fair to make these girls choose whether they want to participate in graduation ceremonies or play soccer and possibly bring home a trophy.

The Collinsville School Board honored this request from its team. What about the Granite City School Board doing the same?

He's had it with treasurer

To the editor:

I've had it. The recent sentencing of the sons of Madison County Treasurer "Mick" Henkhaus is a slap in the face to every honest, taxpaying citizen of the county. On the surface, what appears to be yet another poor decision by our courts in bringing justice is really more so the personification of the underlying cause thereof.

With the control of the county exclusively in the hands of the Democratic party, the representation of the many has evolved into the representation of the few, at the sacrifice of the many.

With the recent receipt of our property tax bills, we as citizens know that the cost of residing in this county is far too great to tolerate this kind of behavior.

This being an election year, and more specifically, with Mick Henkhaus seeking reelection as treasurer, we have the opportunity to demand that we receive ethical representation in return for our tax dollars.

On Nov. 6, I will vote for change. I will vote for Rep. John Shimkus.

Thinks programs are moral

To the editor:

I watch a lot of television and my best, favorite programs are performed and directed by Michael Landon, "Little House on the Prairie" and "Highway to Heaven."

Both these pictures have very good morals to them and are good for people to watch who are homebound.

I could like to know where I could write to tell them or him what good he was doing.

Ballots need warning label

To the editor:

I have seen warning labels on cigarettes, pesticides, detergents, etc.

I would like to suggest this same information on voting ballots.

I believe a bold asterisk should be placed alongside the names of incumbent candidates seeking re-election.

Defining the asterisk at the bottom of the ballot, have it read that these candidates have held office to which they are seeking re-election for the past two or four years. You have been warned.

The 'truth' in court case

To the editor:

A salute to the Telegraph and Post-Dispatch for reporting a portion of the truth that came out in court at the hearing in the McKey/Henkhaus case. It is apparent that the rest of the truth should now be told.

The paper reported that Daron McKey admitted in court that he had started the fight by reaching out the van door he was in and grabbing the hair of Matt Henkhaus. He also said he could have left the scene at any time in the van if he felt threatened. However, McKey continued by opening the van door and struck Mike Henkhaus on the head with a crutch when Mike tried to help Matt. The hair on the crutch was identified as that of Mike's by the laboratory.

When Todd Fee, driver of the van, 27 years old and 6 feet tall came to assist McKey in beating the brothers, there was much the Henkhaus boys could do but grab the crutch and try to defend themselves the best they could from such an unprovoked attack.

The previous fight between McKey and Matt, referred to in the newspaper account, actually was an attempt by McKey to beat up his girlfriend, who happened to be with her sister and Matt. When her sister tried to help the girl against McKey's attack, she was knocked to the ground by him. That is when Matt stepped in to help the girls, and received a severe beating from McKey and a buddy he had with him. Since McKey won this fight, why did he want to resume it again two months later?

The political position of the Henkhaus boys' father worked against them instead of in their favor. After the first beating, Matt and Mike both had reason to be frightened and try to defend themselves. The knife was used as a last resort in the fight the brothers were losing as it was so vengeful and without cause. Because of politics the brothers were not given the full defense although the judge did the best he could under the heat he felt.

Those who think they will gain politically by telling lies about this sad event should remember that those who throw mud usually end up in worst place than their targets. Also, politicians who are criticized without cause don't get out of the hot kitchen, they stick right there until the truth cools the place down.

Summer school a tax ripoff

To the editor:

This year 1,500 students were invited to participate in summer school in Granite City. These students are considered by no particular criteria. They are gifted, at risk and remedial students. The students are selected by their teachers and principals.

The children had 30 different classes to choose from (example: dinosaurs, animals, circus, computers, etc.). All the classes were geared to a theme.

What started out as a program that could employ 30 teachers and enhance 1,500 children has ended up actually employing 17 teachers and enhancing only 300 children. These teachers are paid around $950 for the four weeks of morning classes. If you use simple multiplication and division, you will find that it is costing us, the taxpayers, over $500 per child for four weeks of morning classes.

I find this program very annoying. If we have enough money to serve 1,500 kids; we should have 1,500 kids in the program. Of the children invited, only 20 percent participate. It seems to me that maybe instead of more children should be invited or the elementary school children not invited should be allowed to fill the classes on a first-come, first-serve basis. This invitation process really alienates a lot of children.

Why would this issue addressed by the School Board. Let's quit wasting money and start serving everyone that we can.

2nd Baptist keeping busy

The Fidelis Sunday School Class of Second Baptist Church in Granite City held its monthly class meeting on June 3.

After a potluck dinner, Amy Toney led the group in singing "How Great Thou Art."

Jean Corzine, class teacher, conducted the business session in the absence of the president, Myra Grote.

Among those present were Loretta Rains, Hassie Jones, Dorothy McCoy, Norma Rains, Hazel Pierson, Wilma Niemeyer and Louise Acocks, members. Guests were Donna McCoy, John Pierson and Ray Jones.

Jean Corzine has returned from Marion, where she attended the 60th wedding anniversary celebration of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oras (Reola) Howell.

More than 50 guests helped the honorees to celebrate the occasion.

Also attending were Corzine's sister, Louise Rich, and her brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Kaye) Howell of Marion, Mr. and Mrs. Bill (Louisa) Howell of Millstadt and Mr. and Mrs. Gary (Loretta) Howell of Carrollton, Texas.

The Naomi Class of the Second Baptist Church met recently in the home of Betty Grote. The book study focused on "Prison Ministry."

Refreshments were served to Jean Corzine, Betty Lewis, Mary Sharp, Arlene Smith, Nadine Frith, Laverne Corbett, Shirley Mayberry and Izzy Burnett.

A spaghetti supper was enjoyed by 115 persons attending the Association's Baptist Women and Acolytes' meeting held at the Suburban Church in May. 24 youth members from State Park gave the music and scripture presentation.

Mary and Matt Pascoe and Gary and Regina Wigger sang with sign language interpretation.

Jodi Boatright showed slides of a mission trip by Illinois Acolytes to Jamaica. Rosa Thompson, a missionary to Colombia, gave a slide presentation showing his work in that country.

Pat Knapp demonstrated a lesson on how to teach someone to read and write. She recently completed a literacy workshop sponsored by the association. Each part of the program represented the theme — "Reach, Teach, Touch."

On Thursday, June 28, the Madison County Baptist Association will sponsor the "Celebrant Singers" in concert at First Baptist Church of Maryville at 7 p.m.

The group of young adults, which travels throughout the world sharing the gospel through music and testimony, consists of 10 singers and a 12-piece orchestra, plus a singer for the hearing impaired.

The Celebrants have ministered to over 3 million people in all 50 states and 32 countries over the past 12 years.

The seventh annual reunion of former Venice residents was held at Wilson Park.

Buying nutrition on $11-a-day Feeding four with food stamps a challenge

By Dennis Grubaugh

GRANITE CITY — It's not impossible to buy a day's worth of groceries for $11. But it's not easy either. By the budget or by the calorie.

That was the challenge that faced 17 area leaders Tuesday morning when they converged on the National Food Store in Granite City, menus in hand, to match wits with the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service. The challenge was to spend no more than the amount of money allowed recipients of the Food Stamp program — $11 a day — to feed a family of four and still meet all nutritional guidelines. The $11 amount is considered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to be sufficient.

Participants studied nutritional requirements, price information and serving amounts in the days preceding the shopping challenge to come up with the right balance for their three-meal-a-day shopping spree.

"Jesus said, 'The poor you will always have with you.' And in spite of what federal, state and local governments have done to alleviate the problems of hunger, shelter, job training and such, it would seem that the poor are still with us and in ever-increasing numbers," said Capt. Curtis A. Hartley, commander of the Salvation Army in Granite City.

All groceries purchased Tuesday were donated by National to the Salvation Army.

The nutrition challenge turned out to be as adventurous as it was thought-provoking. Madison County Board member Don Garrett of Venice was asked by a CPS worker what kinds of protein sources he had accumulated when he finished shopping. "I'm a bachelor," he responded. "I solicited the aid of three sisters (in preparing the menu). So when you ask me about protein sources I'm completely lost."

Bob Maxwell, director of public relations at Granite City Steel, was asked if he had to leave anything out of his collection. "Sweets," he said, patting his belly. "And as you can see I like my desserts."

Nearly everyone was able to come within the $11 requirement, but some only after arriving at the cash register. For instance, Harry Briggs, Madison County regional superintendent of schools, had to take some of his groceries out. His penalty: a lowered nutritional value.

See related column, 4A

All things considered, nutrition was as important in this trip as the amount of purchase. Only six of the 17 participants were able to meet 100 percent of the nutritional guidelines and still come in for less than $11.

The $11 challenge is part of a statewide effort to focus attention on the need for increased knowledge of nutrition.

Beverly Charles, a spokesman for the Illinois Hunger Coalition who was present at National, said food stamps only reach 52 percent of those eligible in Madison County. In comparison, the statewide average is 53 percent.

According to Charles, 42,502 of the 249,900 in Madison County are eligible for food stamps, but only 21,988 received them in 1989.

"At the Salvation Army we see an average of 130 cases each month," Hartley said. "In May we served 160 cases, representing 422 individuals. Of those cases, 117 of them sought our help for the first time this year."

The Hunger Coalition is near to releasing a lengthy study on hunger in Illinois, based on a survey of 286 food pantries, said spokesman Charles. That report will show a 185 percent jump between 1985 and '89 in emergency food cases.

Organizations in Madison County that provide food assistance, such as the Glen-Ed Pantry, Protestant Welfare, Operation Blessing, WIC (Women, Infants, Children) and Operation Helping Hand, report increases of 20 percent to 50 percent in the number of calls from individuals requesting food assistance for the past year.

CBS spokesman Janet Burnett said Tuesday's effort was not an attempt to change legislation as it pertains to food stamp recipients. "We are not in a position where we can dictate that," she said. "Our twofold purpose was to highlight that it's not enough to give food to people. They also need education (on nutrition) and to know that they can get that help at the Extension Service."

Participating in the event co-sponsored by the Extension Service and National, in addition to this writer, were: Briggs; Maxwell; Garrett; Bill Raker of WRYT Radio; Marie Nelson, Madison County Housing Authority; Donna Daisy, Coordinated Youth Services; Peter Ponce, Venice-Lincoln Technical Center; Pat Giger, Public Aid, Project Chance; Arla Ault, Madison County Homemakers Extension Association; George Cook, AFL/CIO community relations; James D. Oliver, associate director of urban programs, Cooperative Extension Service; and Joe Bolt, Madison County Community Development; Rolie Manthe, University of Illinois Extension Service; Altharrie Sands of the U.S. 1 Extension Council; Reba Woolvort of Head Start; and Jerri Van Ness, CHEP graduate.

Land of the free, home of the brave divided over (flag) burning issue

Is the fabric of the flag worth defending if that defense might harm the fabric of freedom itself? The U.S. Supreme Court on June 11, three days before Flag Day.

Regardless of how people feel about allowing burning of the United States flag, there is wide agreement that full national agreement will be impossible to achieve.

It is hard for Americans to react quietly and charitably when others' views on the flag differ sharply from their own.

SHOULD THERE BE an amendment to the Constitution to bar flag destruction?

President George Bush called for Senate/House approval of such an amendment by Independence Day, July 4. It could then be ratified if 38 of the 50 states support it.

Illinois Gov. James Thompson said June 15 that, if Congress acts, he will summon the General Assembly this summer to consider the amendment.

Illinois Speaker of the House

Michael Madigan supported the governor's action, assuring strong bi-partisan backing.

THE AMERICAN LEGION favors protecting the revered "red, white and blue."

Aware that the high court was about to rule on a federal law adopted to "correct" last year's anti-flag ruling, the Legion distributed "Stand by Our Flag," a 16-page magazine, just as the new 5-4 court vote was being announced.

The magazine contains some of the most beautiful flag photos I've ever seen. Its articles include:

"Banner of liberty, symbol of sacrifice."

"We have a commitment to those who are no longer with us, as well as to those who will follow us, to stand by our flag."

"Assault on Old Glory."

"A year has passed since the Supreme Court said that flag burning was freedom of speech."

"LEGIIONNAIRES have spearheaded an ongoing 'positive protest," enlisting an army of mainstream Americans who demand that the U.S. flag be protected from desecration.

Bill Winter

"A voice of reason and clarity in America."

"The case has nothing to do with disagreeable ideas. It involves disagreeable conduct that diminishes the value of a national asset."

"How Congress stole the flag amendment (proposed in 1989)."

"The House of Representatives never had the chance to vote on a Constitutional amendment which most Americans have said they would support."

"A bedrock principle of free speech."

"It has been said we shouldn't amend the U.S. Constitution to protect the flag."

"BUT THE FACT is that an amendment would restore the rights of the people without harming freedom of speech."

"The Legion challenge."

"Even in this era of strange values and growing apathy, there are still ideals and values worth fighting to preserve."

"And the United States flag is one of them."

THE PLEDGE ITSELF is published on the back cover of "Stand by Our Flag."

Its 31-word message says a lot and could not easily be improved upon:

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Comedian Red Skelton once made an entirely-serious recording in which he explained deeper meanings in each phrase of the pledge. Every now and then,

Radio Station KMOX plays Skelton's emotional but effective narration, and it was played again last week.

EQUALLY PERSUASIVE is a famous oration delivered in Washington, D.C., on Flag Day in 1914.

The speaker was Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, who described what the flag might say to flag-makers if it could speak.

"I am your belief in yourself, your dream of what a people may become."

"I AM ALL that you hope to be and have the courage to try for."

"I am the Constitution and the courts, statutes and the statute makers, soldier and street sweeper, cook, counselor and clerk."

"I swing before you as a bright gleam of color, a symbol of yourself, the picture suggestion of that big thing which makes this nation."

"My stars and stripes are yours, dear, and your labors. They are bright with cheer, brilliant with courage, firm with faith, because you have made them out of your hearts. And you are the makers of the flag and it is well that you glory in the making."

SEVEN YEARS are allowed for state legislatures to approve an amendment once it is authorized by the U.S. House and Senate, but indications are that most states will try to act quickly in one direction or another.

There is widespread support for an amendment, led by Senate Minority Leader Robert D. Byrd, a decorated and severely wounded veteran of World War II.

But there also are many opponents, including anti-war veterans such as James Kilpatrick, who warns against "chipping away at the First Amendment."

"Oh, say," does that star-spangled banner yet wave over the land of the free and the home of the brave?" Stay tuned.

Terminal Railroad wins safety award

The Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis, 2016 Madison Ave., for the second time in two years, has won the coveted E.H. Harriman Memorial silver medal award for "outstanding employee safety in 1989. Terminal won the silver medal award also in 1988 and a bronze medal in 1986.

Of 23 Switching and Terminal Railroad companies throughout the United States, Terminal Railroad of St. Louis was chosen, based on its excellent employee safety record, to receive the second place Harriman silver medal during ceremonies in Washington, D.C.

For 1989, the Terminal Railroad reported no fatalities among its employees, and no reportable injuries in the Locomotive, Bridge and Building, and Communications and Signals Departments. The Locomotive Department has now gone five years without a reportable injury.

"With our unceasing efforts in the field of employee safety, we were pleased to again receive the Harriman silver medal," said B.C. Davidson, president of the Terminal, who accepted the award on behalf of all terminal employees. "We won our first medal, the third-place bronze medal, in 1986, and constantly set our sights on winning the gold medal with a continually improving safety program," he said.

Participating in the Washington presentation were: Gilbert E. Carmichael, federal railroad administrator; William H. Dempsey, president of the Association of American Railroads; and W. Averall Harriman. On hand to receive the award for the Terminal Railroad, in addition to Davidson, were Douglas Weitzman, general manager;

J.G. Beaird, director of service rules and general claim agent; R.A. Ripper, superintendent motive power; Dan Morton, bridge and building supervisor; and Cliff Trice, superintendent communications and signals.

The annual rail employee safety awards were founded in 1913 by the late Mary W. Harriman in memory of her husband, Edward H. Harriman, a pioneer in American railroading.

Winners of the Harriman Memorial medals are chosen by a committee of individuals prominent in the transportation field. Awards are granted to railroads on the basis of the lowest casualty rates per 200,000 employee-hours worked — a formula that takes into account the volume of work performed, as well as the number of fatalities, injuries and occupational illnesses reported to the Federal Railroad Administration.

One out-of-six (16.7 percent) will give a warning for one garnishment; one in ten (9.4 percent) will discharge an employee for two within 12 months; and one out of 20 (5.8 percent) will discharge for three garnishments within 12 months.

Summer cooling tips offered by IP

Illinois Power Co. is offering a series of tips to get the most comfort for your energy dollar:

- Check and clean the filter on your air conditioner every 30 days during the cooling season. Have the coolant, belts and coils checked during an annual service exam.

- Adjust the thermostat at the highest comfort level. The recommended daytime setting is 78 degrees. Remember, each degree below that means 3 percent more energy consumption.

- Use timers and set-back thermostats on air conditioners.
- Caulk, weather strip and insulate your home to keep the cool air in and the hot air out.

- Follow the sun. As the sun moves from east to west during the day, pull drapes and shades on windows to block out the heat.

- Open the windows when air conditioning isn't absolutely necessary. Use window, ceiling and attic fans to help circulate air.

- Plan ahead. Do your "hot" jobs, such as washing and drying clothes or baking and cooking, during the cooler hours of the morning or evening.

- Use the shade of properly planted trees, vines and shrubs to shade your home and provide extra cooling.

- Get an audit. An Illinois Power Energy Audit costs $15, but could reveal problems with easy solutions that will save you hundreds of dollars in energy costs.

For more information, contact your local Illinois Power customer service representative.

Landfill

That maximum amount may be imposed by counties, municipalities or a combination of local authorities, Mallot said.

Bob Stille, D-Edwardsville, was at the Roxana village board meeting Monday when the landfill expansion plan was approved. He said village officials expressed an interest in the tipping fees.

"If we don't put it on, Roxana will. We're damned if we do and damned if we don't," Stille said before Wednesday's county board vote.

He warned the board of the loss of revenue that he said will inevitably come out of county residents' pockets.

Roxana Mayor Paul "Buzz" Kinkle could not be reached for comment on the issue following

Funeral services

Area deaths reported in this week's Sunday and Wednesday newspapers include:

Funeral services were held May 12 at St. Michael's Catholic Church in Staunton, with the Rev. George Radoschewicz officiating. Burial was at Memorial Park Cemetery. Williamson Funeral Home in Staunton was in charge of arrangements.

BOGOVICH, Alexander, 76, of Granite City died at 7:45 p.m. Saturday, June 16, 1990, in the emergency room of St. Elizabeth Medical Center. A Masonic service was held Monday at Irwin Chapel, Granite City. Private graveside services were held Tuesday at Sunset Hill Memorial Estates, near Edwardsville.

CUNNINGHAM, Hilda Rose, was stillborn Thursday, June 14, 1990, at Anderson Hospital, Maryville. Graveside services were held Monday, with burial at Memorial Park Cemetery. Werner Chapel for Funerals, Pontoon Beach, was in charge of the arrangements.

HAWKINS, Isabel (Stonking), 94, of Granite City died at 9:50 a.m. Saturday, June 16, 1990, at the Colonades. Funeral services were held Tuesday at Irwin Chapel, Granite City, with the Rev. Austin Fisher officiating. Burial was in St. John's Cemetery in Granite City.

LENSING, Flora Mae, 63, of Granite City died at 9:30 a.m. Friday, June 15, 1990, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Funeral services were held Monday at Irwin Chapel, Granite City, with the Rev. Manuel Tamayo officiating. Burial will be in Sunset Hill Memorial Estates near Edwardsville.

LINDSEY, Tevester Sr., 46, of East St. Louis died at 6:02 a.m. Wednesday, June 13, 1990, in his home. Funeral services were held the board meeting. As part of its agreement with Laidlaw for the annexation and expansion, Roxana will receive 2.5 percent of all gross receipts from the landfill.

Stille predicted the village board, which will meet again July 2, will act quickly to impose the 2.5 percent fee for the landfill, bringing the fee up to the allowable maximum.

Stille estimated the tipping fees will yield as much as $1 million annually once the 55-acre expansion is on line.

"It wouldn't surprise me to see (Roxana) call a special meeting. We've opened the door for them," Stille said. He said he believed the village took no action on the tipping fee Monday because it was pending before the county board.

Moorman is a partner in the Alton firm of Williamson, Webster, Groshong, Moorman & Falb, is a graduate of Yale University and St. Louis University School of Law.

Becker is a partner in the firm of Becker and Mott in Granite City. He is a graduate of Southern Illinois University and St. Louis University School of Law.

Mrs. Jensen is the city attorney for Edwardsville. She graduated from the Washington University School of Law.

Partneys

During the trial in January the Partneys were represented by Scroggins. At their sentencing hearing in May, a new attorney, Bill Lucco of Edwardsville, submitted a lengthy list of reasons why the guilty verdicts should be set aside.

In her new trial order, Maddox notes "the defendants contributed in large part to the problems raised in their post-trial motions" by not raising the issues before or during the trial.

Scroggins' only response to that criticism was: "I read the opinion."

Dan Partney, who stands to lose his position as an alderman if found guilty of felony perjury, said "I think it is a very fair decision and it shows there is justice in the judicial system."

"I admire and respect the judge for his courage in doing what she thought was right, according to the law."

Professing ignorance about his legal options in light of the ruling, Dan Partney said, "It's up to the lawyers where the case goes from here. It has to be resolved in one manner or another."

Dan Partney said simply, "We didn't feel we were guilty all along. I don't know anything else to say."

The Partneys maintained during the trial they had gotten legal advice saying it was illegal to use a business address as a residence for voting purposes and had no reason to believe their signed statements were untrue.

But Rybak ridiculed that assertion, pointing out that Dan Partney had taken a course dealing with voting requirements in order to become a deputy registrar.

In the trial Rybak characterized the Partneys as "rich and powerful men" who thought they were above the law.

The defense had said the charges were motivated by Dan Partney's political enemies in Granite City.

The defense accused the state of selective enforcement, noting that such charges had never been filed before in Madison County.

A number of Madison County lawyers speculated, off the record, that an appeals judge would not take overturning a jury's version lightly. They said they doubted seriously if Maddox would have overturned the verdict if there was any chance of a successful appeal by the state's attorney.

Trash

Whitaker, Skubish said, refuses to face the fact Granite City is mostly populated by the "minimum wage poor" and predicted "people are going to be jumping up and down when they find out they are going to have to change and start paying (for yard waste)."

Skubish, however, offered no alternative plan.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse said the contract means the city knows where it stands for the next three years, while giving the city time to start implementing waste management programs of its own.

Cruse said trash hauling represents 10 percent of the city budget and the city will one day not be able to afford to provide it for free.

The motion to approve the contract for $3,264,559 passed by a 13-1 vote with Skubish voting no.

Triplets Strike out against Belleville

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

SAUGET — It was an exercise in tedium, frustration and eventually anger for Ralph Burnett and the Triplets on Tuesday.

In one of the ugliest baseball games ever played, the Belleville Hilgards came back for a 4-1 win over Post 113 at Sauget Field. The Triplets fell to 4-3 and missed a chance to move into first place in the District 22 North Division at Alton (5-3) lost for the second straight night. Belleville is 3-0 in the South Division.

There wasn't much to the game unless you like strikeouts, walks and wild pitches. Fittingly, the winning run scored on a strikeout.

Losing pitcher Tom Senecyn (1-1) struck out John Ostreich, but the pitch sailed past catcher Dan Partney and Rich Saugat came across with the winning run in the fourth inning. Tim Myatt relieved starter Doug York for Belleville in the fourth inning and made like Carl Hubbell, piling up nine strikeouts including six in a row in four innings to gain the win.

"I don't think we could strike out any more if we tried to," said an extremely unhappy Burnett. "We take fastballs down the middle and swing at curve balls. It's just unbelievable how bad this team looked tonight. We're playing like a bunch of losers."

Outside of the pitching by Myatt, there wasn't much for either team to be proud of. The Triplets broke out to a 4-0 lead in the second thanks mainly to four straight walks by York. Joe Wallace had a two-run single after two runs had been forced in.

The Hilgards got three runs back with only one bloop hit by Bernie Ysursa in the third. Senecyn walked four in the inning and Ysursa's fair down the right-field line drove in two.

None of Belleville's five hits were solid. "I would have taken Butch out earlier, but I was waiting for them to hit one ball hard," said Burnett.

The fourth inning was worse. Senecyn walked two and Wallace — playing first base again — made an error to fill the bases. John Mueller scored on a wild pitch and Saugat came across on the missed third strike.

Meanwhile, the Triplets mostly swung at air after Myatt came on. Rich Schardan singled to greet Myatt, but was picked off second after stealing it. Myatt then fanned Wallace, Brian Harshany, Partney, Jim, McKeehan, Kurt Hodges and Ryan Reeves in succession before Tim Black drew a one-out walk in the sixth.

Harshany got an infield single in the seventh, but was out at second on Partney's ground ball. Harshany originally beat the throw, but he was tagged out by second baseman Mueller when he came off the base, a call Burnett argued. That came right after Wallace was ejected for offering his opinion on being called out on strikes.

Jeff Stephens drew a walk to put two on for Hodges, but he fanned to end it.

"We have the attitude of losers right now," said Burnett. "We got ahead and gave it right back to them. It seems like we want to play from behind. If the pitchers on both teams could have been here all night (with a scoreless game). Maybe we ought to forget about it and just let Edwardsville paste us."

Post 199, featuring most of the players from Edwardsville High School's state championship team, visits Granite City for a 7:30 game tonight, then Smithton comes in Friday. Burnett, who will pitch Schardan tonight, has a good idea whom Edwardsville manager Ken Schaake will counter with.

"I went over to the Edwardsville-Highland game Monday," said Burnett. "It seems like we see Tom Price every time. Ken says they saw Darin Hendrickson every time we played them a couple years ago, so he always has Price for us."

"But when I got there Monday I saw Price on the mound, so I figured we would miss him (Thursday). But Edwardsville jumps out to an 11-0 lead after two innings (against Highland's No. 1 pitcher, Kirt Ervin, no less). Price comes off and says if he comes out right now he'll be able to pitch against Granite City on Thursday."

There's nothing like trying to bounce back against the best.

Baker thinks Cup still up for grabs

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

The 1990 World Cup is still very much up for grabs, and there has been plenty of outstanding play and enough surprises to make it one of the best in recent memory.

So says Warrior soccer coach Gene Baker, who has been watching as much of the action as he can.

"I've been switching back and forth between TNT and the Spanish network (Univision) and have seen quite a few games," said Baker, who attended the Cup finals in 1986 in Mexico. "It's the greatest soccer you can hope to see. The strategy is terrific and there are a number of teams that can win it."

One team that can't win it is the United States, but the Americans were able to hold their heads high following the 1-0 loss to Italy last Thursday in Rome. Many experts were predicting a rout somewhere in the neighborhood of 10-0.

"I think it was a case of American pride more than any type of strategic preparation," Baker said. "They said the game plan was more compact (Gansler was born in Hungary), although Gansler's contract was extended Tuesday.

"Having an American coach like (Indiana University's) Jerry Yeagley could really help," said Baker. "We need to keep many of the younger players from this year's team and augment that with some of the talented players coming up."

One of those younger players coming up who will be playing college soccer is Yeagley's son John Van Buskirk of Granite City. Could he follow in Trittschuh's footsteps?

"I've never know what will happen, but John has the ability to develop into the kind of player who could be at that level in four years," Baker said.

As for the rest of the tournament, Baker is picking Brazil, West Germany and Italy to make the semifinals, though he's undecided on the fourth team. The final two games of the first round (round-robin play in six groups of four) are today, then the World Cup turns into a 16-team single elimination format beginning Saturday. The top two teams in each group plus the four best third-place squads advance.

"I'm a little disappointed in Holland, and I really thought England had been great Saturday on that late goal (waived off because of offside)," Baker said. "But I really like Brazil and West Germany, although I haven't seen the Germans yet."

Seeing West Germany in the finals could be a familiar sight to Granite City fans. The Warriors got new jerseys last season which are replicas of the West German.

Cameroon has been the surprise so far, as the African nation stunned 1986 champion Argentina and knocked out Romania to become the first team to qualify for the round of 16.

"Upsets are healthy for our sport," Baker said. "It teaches the younger players that desire is very important. And I know our kids are watching these games. There are a lot of things you can pick up. And I think the officiating has been excellent so far."

Baker thinks having the World Cup here in 1994 could be the big booster soccer has waited for so long in the U.S.

"A big thing we need is more support from the media," he said. "It's hard to read about soccer here without it being satirical or sarcastic. But can we be a great thing for our country. And it would really be nice to have some games nearby."

Chicago and/or Kansas City could host games, since St. Louis doesn't have a stadium with a grass field and enough seating. But it was announced this week that there is a possibility games could be played in domed stadiums in 1994, leaving open possibility for games here if the domed stadium in downtown St. Louis is built.

BEGINNER'S FORM: Paddlers diving coach Gail McCormick watches as Jamie Cassidy, 7, a first-year diving team member, attempts a twist off the diving board. Paddlers opens the season at the Southwest Illinois Swimming Association Relays on Saturday at Gaslight in Collinsville, then has dual meets Monday at Summerhaven St. Sunset Hills.

Indiana driver's trip worthwhile; takes 'Days of Thunder' feature

By Steve Birmingham
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — John Gill hauled all the way from Indiana to challenge the midwest's best in June 13's $30,000 Mello Yello "Days of Thunder" UMP late model stock car special at Tri-City Speedway.

Gill came away $3,000 richer. Chasing pole-sitter Terry Phillips for 25 of the scheduled 30 laps, Gill made his move in turn four and never looked back, capturing his first feature win of 1990 on the dirt half-mile.

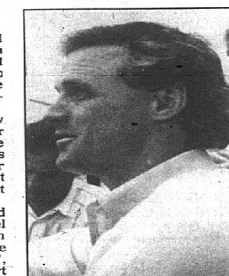

The special feature for United Midwest Promoter's late model stocks was run in conjunction with the national release of the new movie, "Days of Thunder," starring Tom Cruise and Robert Duvall. NASCAR Winston Cup driver and former St. Louisian Ken Schrader made a special appearance, driving the Budweiser-sponsored late model.

Starting sixth on the field, Gill steadily moved to the front while Phillips, Kevin Gundaker and Schrader fought for the early lead. A fourth lap crash in turn four involving Ron Fisher and Wendell Wallace brought out the caution flag, but when the green flag flew Phillips pulled away, leaving Gundaker and Gill 10 lengths behind.

Gill put a move on Gundaker in heavy traffic on the back straight to grab second away from Gusman, then the writing was on the wall as Gill had a clear track to set sail on Phillips.

A blown motor for Bo Smith again brought out the yellow, and on the restart, Gundaker and Gill pressured Phillips for the next 10 laps, sometimes running three abreast through the turns.

Schrader made a big move on Gundaker on the restart, diving low in turns one and two, but then lost the car in turn three, bashing the outside retaining Wall: No harm, no foul, as the caution flag never came out, but both Gundaker and Schrader allowed Jim Leka to move past for third.

Coming out of the fourth turn on lap 19, Gill made his move, diving to the bottom of the turn and putting his left side tires into the grass to wrest the lead from Phillips.

Finishing sixth behind Schrader was UMP points-leader Bob Pierce, with Tom Rients, Ken Essary, Bob Cheatum and Kevin Claycomb rounding out the top ten.

First-year late model pilot Paul Shafer led nine laps of the first heat race, with Phillips making moves on him in every turn, finally getting past on the last lap. Shafer finished second with Gill behind.

Jim Swank led the early going in the second heat, but Gundaker and Schrader flexed their muscles, putting the pass on Swank on the second lap. Gundaker crossed the line first, followed by Wendell Wallace and Schrader.

The Midwest Auto Racing Association Midgents (MARA) rounded out the evening's action and when the dust settled from 25 laps of the sideways-sliding speedsters, Donnie Beechler came in on top, chased the entire distance by Jeff Lee, Kevin Doty, Steve Knepper and Scott Frew.

Beechler also took his heat race, chased by Shannon Finley and Kevin Olson. After Olson faded, Dan Ford jumped into second, with Finley coming home third.

Jeff Lee dominated the second heat and looked to be tough in the feature, as he led all ten laps. With Dean Franklin and Scott Frew nipping at his heels, Lee sped to win, with Franklin and Frew behind.

In the third heat, Danny Frye torrid battle for the lead, with Roger Branson putting his two cents in. Four caution flags marred this one, with rookie Eubie Logan, flipping several times in turn four in front of the main grandstand.

When the green flew with three laps to go, Knepper chased event to winner Frye, with Branson finishing third.

The Miller Genuine Draft Late Model special, featuring 1989 NASCAR Winston Cup Champion and former St. Louisian Rusty Wallace, comes to Tri-City on June 27. UMP late models, UMP econo-late models and the Street stocks will battle for over $20,000 in prize money. Also on hand will be the Miller Genuine Draft 1990 Pontiac that Wallace drives on the Winston Cup Tour.

Gates open at 5:30 p.m., with racing at 7:30 p.m.

World Cup 1990

and defensive, but I don't think that showed. We had plenty of chances to score (particularly Peter Vermes' rebound shot in the second half), and a tie or a win would have been great.

"The neat thing was the Italians' goal (in the 11th minute) wasn't because of any inability on our part. It was a great work of deception by the Italians and a good shot."

Granite City North's Steve Trittschuh, who coached the team against in high school, was replaced by John Doyle on the back line following the 1-0 loss to Czechoslovakia in the opener on June 10. Trittschuh made a couple of good plays to prevent goals against the Czechs, but a couple of the goals were also scored in his area. The U.S. closed out with a 2-1 loss to Austria on Tuesday.

"The first game was a matter of the character of the team breaking down," said Baker, who coached team member John Harkes in the 1983 Dapper Dan Classic, a high school all-star game. "They needed to go into that game sky-high and they kind of eased into it. There has been some dissension between forwards and backs which has gotten out in the media, and that didn't help. Plus, most countries would like to really lay it on, and keep us where we are."

Baker says U.S. coach Bob Gansler is "very competent and a credit to the game." But he also wouldn't mind seeing a native American coach the team

Bowling Green, Ohio. That involves players from 12 midwestern states. Strader will compete for a spot on the regional team in his age group.
